

A powder room provides a great opportunity to make a creative design statement and an inviting space for guests. "This unique powder room is larger than most," says Marilyn Rose of Marilyn Rose Interiors, "with enough space for an etagere, accessories and a chair (not shown)." It also allows the space to carry a considerable amount of panache.

Vanities come in all shapes and sizes and the powder room is the perfect place to try something unusual. Here, a circular marble top is set upon a round wood pedestal. The architect created the curved wall for more interest and it provides the perfect nook for the vanity. The luxe Sherle Wagner faucet and basin evoke vintage beauty and grace. An oval gilded mirror serves as a glamorous embellishment and looks as though it is floating on the curved wall.

The classic print wallpaper is cream with a soft sea glass blue motif and turns the space into a visual delight. The draperies echo the color palette and elegant air.

Crystal sconces and antique framed artwork finalize the personal touches. The overall appearance creates a soft and serene feeling. 🏠

PHOTOGRAPHY BY NOEL ALLUM

